

GINA MASTANTUONO AND LUKE FELTHAM

2026 Pink Tie Partners Orange County

Luke Feltham and Gina Mastantuono share a deep commitment to family, community, and advancing women's health. Together, they have made the fight against breast cancer a central part of their philanthropy, united by the belief that no one should face this disease without access to the best care, research, and support.

Their partnership is grounded in shared purpose. Luke, an accomplished triathlete, has dedicated more than 15 years to raising their two sons, bringing discipline, generosity, and a strong sense of community to family life. Gina, President and Chief Financial Officer of ServiceNow, is one of the most influential financial leaders in the technology industry, known for driving meaningful impact across business and beyond.

Their connection to this cause is deeply personal. After losing a close friend to breast cancer, Gina has honored her memory through longstanding involvement with Susan G. Komen, including participation in the Race for the Cure, service on the Orange County Board of Directors, and sustained philanthropic giving. Together, she and Luke have transformed that loss into action, championing greater investment in research, raising awareness, and encouraging early detection.

As longtime supporters of Susan G. Komen and 2026 Pink Tie Partners, Luke and Gina are proud to stand with this community in pursuit of a future where breast cancer is no longer a life-altering diagnosis, but a disease we have overcome together.