

Samina Ahmed, MD

2026 Pink Tie Partner Orange County

Dr. Samina Ahmed is a compassionate, board-certified medical hematologist and oncologist who has been practicing in Orange County since 2016. Originally from Chicago, she earned her medical degree from Rush Medical College, where she also completed her internship and residency at Rush University. She went on to complete a fellowship in medical oncology and hematology at the University of Southern California.

Dr. Ahmed is board certified in both medical oncology and hematology and is an active member of several professional organizations, including the American Society of Clinical Oncology and the Orange County Medical Association. She currently serves as chief of medical oncology and hematology at Kaiser Permanente Orange County and has been recognized as an Orange County Medical Association Physician of Excellence.

Dr. Ahmed values the physician–patient relationship deeply and considers it a privilege to partner with her patients throughout their treatment journey.